PROJECTS

MNIST Digit Classification Using CNN [Python, Tensorflow, Keras, Numpy, Pandas, Open CV]

Developed a Handwritten Digits Recognizer using Convolutional Neural Networks (CNN) with TensorFlow, Keras, and Python libraries, achieving high accuracy in digit classification. The model efficiently processes and classifies MNIST dataset images of handwritten digits.

Multiple Disease Prediction System [Python, Streamlit, Numpy, Pandas, Matplotlib, Seaborn, Scikit-Learn]

Developed a Multiple Disease Prediction System leveraging machine learning algorithms to predict the likelihood of multiple diseases based on patient health data. The system utilizes Python libraries such as NumPy, Pandas, and Scikit-learn to preprocess data and build predictive models for diseases like diabetes, heart disease, and more.

Data Visualizer [Python, Streamlit, Numpy, Pandas, Matplotlib, Seaborn, Scikit-Learn]

The Data Visualizer is an interactive web application designed to provide users with a powerful tool for analyzing and visualizing complex datasets. Built using Python and key libraries such as Pandas, NumPy, Matplotlib, and Streamlit, this project allows users to upload datasets and generate dynamic, insightful visualizations with ease.
